Goleta

Tech giants make themselves at home on the South Coast

Conveniently located just 8 miles from Santa Barbara, the city of Goleta is nestled between a backdrop of majestic mountains and sprawling coastal bluffs. Home to beautifully-designed business parks, safe and family-oriented neighborhoods, and a world-class university, Goleta is among California's premier locations for businesses.

Hollister Avenue serves as a central corridor of Goleta, hosting a variety of blooming businesses in the research, development, medical, and technical fields such as Google, Citrix, and Inogen. The Santa Barbara Airport runs adjacent to Hollister Avenue.

Many companies are investing in the community – literally – by buying property for their own local operations. Deckers Outdoor Corporation recently built new international headquarters at Cabrillo Business Park. Raytheon, FLIR, and Karl Storz Imaging are other successful companies that own facilities in Goleta.

TECH & ENGINEERING SECTOR

The Santa Barbara area is a dynamic hub for high-tech research and development

The establishment of the University of California campus in 1954 and the arrival of aerospace and defense companies such as Raytheon and Delco changed the Goleta Valley forever from a prosperous farming region to a technology research area and an urban bedroom community. Today the area is home to more than 100 defense and government contractor companies, including Raytheon, Tecolote Research, Orbital ATK, and Kidde Technologies.

The area's computer science pedigree was founded decades ago when UCSB was one of four sites selected to develop the Department of Defense's ARPANet, the predecessor of the world wide web. Dubbed "Techtopia" by CNBC, Santa Barbara is dotted with internet companies and start-ups, many of which have spun out of UCSB research teams.
